Barry G. Pierce, M.D.

Dr. Pierce is a psychiatrist in private practice in Santa Rosa, California. He blends 25 years of psychotherapy training and experience into an eclectic style of therapy for people who are anxious or depressed, or who want to grow in their personal and professional lives. He has trained and supervised therapists who have established successful practices. Dr. Pierce is a leading expert in consultation and education in the basic science and use of medications affecting moods, anxiety, and thinking. He regularly provides educational presentations to primary care physicians, psychiatrists, and other psychology professionals and currently serves as consultant, educational speaker and clinical investigator for several pharmaceutical companies. Dr. Pierce is a diplomate of the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology and of the American Academy of Pain Management. He is one of a small number of psychiatrists receiving Board Certification in Administrative Psychiatry by the American Psychiatric Association, and one of a very small number of psychiatrists to be certified as a Master Psychopharmacologist by the Neuroscience Education Institute. Dr. Pierce is certified by the American Board of Forensic Examiners and frequently provides expert witness court testimony. He has been the invited Grand Rounds presenter at many San Francisco area hospitals.
